

The loss of influence of empires over time

The United Kingdom, France, and Spain were the three main European colonial empires. The lines link the colonies with the country that controls them.

